AMOS VIII 11-12.

"Behold the days come, saith the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the Land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the words of the Lord: and they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the north even to the east, they shall run to and fro to seek the word of the Lord, and shall not find it."

THIS Prophet flourished about eight centuries before the Christian era, and the prediction in the text is supposed to have had its accomplishment, either in the troubles that preceded the captivity of the ten tribes, or the spiritual destitution that followed that event. For some time beforehand their Prophets were few, but afterwards they were fewer still, and their privileges more contracted. A mixed population, partly Jewish and partly Heathen, occupied the country. The former soon became incorporated with these idolatrous strangers. They retained indeed in externals some memorials of their ancient faith, but they lived far removed from religious ordinances and means of grace, experiencing in all its aggravated misery, the spiritual famine which the text describes, a famine, not of bread or of water—the grand essentials of animal life—but of hearing the word of the Lord—the more essential verities which sustain the life of the soul.

Allow me to call your attention for a few moments to the magnitude of this evil. And here we may first ask, how does the pen of inspiration teach us to estimate it? How is it presented to our view in the prophecy before us?

Observe the very mode in which the announcement of it is given, "Behold the days come saith the Lord, that I will send a famine in the Land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord." "A famine of bread and a thirst for water!" Who can describe the aggravated miseries of such a visitation? What language can depict it, when the essentials of life are withdrawn, when the emaciated frame sinks under protracted deprivation, and the parched tongue and feverish lips covet in vain the drop of cold water? To paint the horrors of such a calamity one of the most forcible images contained in Scripture is employed; it is the personification of death, sitting on the "pale horse" with "hades" or the grave following in the train, to receive the wretched victims of want and despair. But mark the terms of the prophecy before us. "I will send not a famine of bread nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord," an evil far more dreadful in its nature, and awful in its consequences. It seems highly probable that what we ordinarily term a famine formed part of the calamities that visited the people of Israel, at the very time to which the prophecy points, that "the famine of bread and the thirst for water" came too, but this evil was so insignificant in comparison of the other, that the Omniscient author of the dispensation treats this part of it as nothing. "I will send, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water;" I do not pause to describe these calamities; you may feel them, and deem them great, but they are not worthy to be named in comparison of that spiritual destitution which your souls will then experience.

Turn to the effects of this visitation as the next verse describes them. "They shall wander from sea to sea, from the north even to the east, they shall run to and fro to seek the word of the Lord and shall not find it." These afflicted persons had once possessed the means of grace; they had had scriptures and prophecies, and ordinances, but they undervalued them, and God in judgment took them away. Then they were sensible of their worth. Much as they had slighted these privileges when they had them, they severely felt the deprivation when they had lost them. In their prosperity they thought they could do without religion, but in the day of trouble they found their need of it. They had imagined at one time that worldly wisdom or vain superstitions would suffice them; they found in the season of trial, their sad mistake. A time came when human policy and human strength were vain, when "the fair and the young fainted for thirst."* A time came when they travelled far and near to find God's messengers, but their search was vain. A time came, when they found that the calves of Bethel and the idols of Beershebat could spread no shield above their heads, and learnt, in the school of sad experience, that it is indeed an evil and a bitter thing to forsake, and by consequence, to be without the presence and protection of the Lord.

So far the pen of inspiration, and the history of ancient Israel attest the magnitude of this evil. But are the effects of spiritual destitution less calamitous under the better covenant of Christ? Are they diminished by time or locality? or does not observation still teach us to sum them up in the dark category of sin, misery, and death?

Were we to regard man merely as a social being; were we to look at his conduct, simply as it bears upon the interests of civil society; we should find ample reason to deplore, and if possible to remove this spiritual destitution; for certain it is, that nothing tends more to cherish a spirit of anarchy and confusion, than the ignorance of God and His Laws. Even among nations unvisited by the light of the Gospel, nations whose glory had gained its meridian ere yet the light of evangelical truth had shed its radiance upon the world, it was found necessary to inculcate a respect for imaginary deities in order to maintain a due submission to authority. In such cases superstition was the substitute, the feeble, the inadequate, nevertheless the substitute for religion. But amongst men who have been taught, with the earliest dawn of reason to despise such superstition, what is to subdue their passions, to restrain their impetuosity, and to regulate their actions, if the majesty of God and the sanctity of His laws are unknown?

* v. 13.

If, however, the present interests of society were alone concerned, the whole subject might be consigned over to the statesman, who might be entrusted with a commission to uphold religion as an engine of government, to devise ways and means for its support, in order to maintain the laws; and this is in truth the only view of the subject which some persons are disposed to cherish. A far more serious reflection is that the spiritual destitution of which I am speaking leads to open and flagrant sin against God. Who can doubt, for example, that it is the parent of the most awful profaneness? Profaneness is to be found, to a certain extent, in all communities, but it is only to be found in proportion to the spiritual ignorance that prevails in them. Where the Gospel is generally received it hides its head; but where "the word of the Lord" is unknown, it glories in publicity, and revels in the face of the sun. Another sin which grows out of spiritual ignorance, is the profanation of the Sabbath. Where no stated public services are attended on the Sabbath, the observation of it as a day of rest and devotion, soon falls into disuse. It is soon treated just as other days are, or if indeed any distinction is made between them, it consists in the substitution of idleness and carnal pleasure for the ordinary business of the week. Some possibly of the seniors who have spent the morning of their days in other lands, and who from childhood may have been trained to pay respect to the day of rest, may long retain these early impressions, may cherish even to the last their reverence for an Institution as old as Creation itself, and as sacred as the sanction of God, and the example of the Son of God; and the constant practice of the Church of God can render it. But when they have gone down to the tomb, who is to resuscitate the feeling? When they are gathered to their fathers, what is to impart, or what to cherish the sacred flame in the breasts of their descendants, if neither the word of God, nor the ordinances of His house, nor the voice of His ministers be recognised amongst them?

And here suffer me to remind you of the positive misery which those persons must experience, who from early recollections, or from reading their Bible, or from any other source, have learned to value the truth and ordinances of God, and in whose minds an ardent thirst for the possession of them has been, by any means, excited,—the positive misery they must endure in passing the residue of their days where no cheering sound of the Gospel message is heard, where no minister of Christ is at hand to point out the way of salvation, or administer the blessed ordinances of religion,—the positive misery they must realize, in going on from week to week with nothing to cheer the dull monotony of life ; the six days, days of toil and hardship ; the Sabbath a blank or worse than a blank, a desecrated institution ! Surely, the ills of life are sufficiently numerous to weigh down the heart, amidst all the aids and advantages which are enjoyed in the most spiritually-blessed community ; but what must they be where christian fellowship and christian ordinances are unknown ?

Still, I admit, that all these considerations would be of small account, that the call upon our sympathy and exertions would be comparatively insignificant, if no future evils were to result from this spiritual destitution, if all the ills that spring from it were to terminate with our travels here, if they were to sink into eternal oblivion when once the cold grave has covered our mortal remains. But we cannot, in our estimate of their amount, stop at this point. No. There are considerations of a far more serious character which here force themselves upon our minds. In leaving men in this state of spiritual destitution, we leave them to become the prey of some one or other of the nameless forms of delusion, which ignorance or blind enthusiasm may tempt others to propagate, and which are in many instances utterly subversive of the fundamental principles of truth ; or else we leave them to grow up in a state of infidelity, without an acquaintance with, or even respect for the revelation which God's Eternal Son has brought to us. Such was, to a great extent, the actual condition of many of the British Colonies in America, at the time when the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel began its labours in that country. The inquiry into their spiritual condition shewed, as a late writer upon the subject remarks, that " England had been indeed peopling the New World with Colonies of Heathens."* How indeed could it be otherwise ? " Faith cometh by hearing and hearing by the word of God," and if no adequate means are employed to disseminate the truths of that word amongst a rising population, what is to be expected but that they must become, and that with fearful rapidity, the disciples of infidelity, or the victims of wild delusion ? Then comes the solemn question, how will this spiritual destitution affect the interests of eternity ? What are to be its results, when all connexions with earth are at an end, when the joys and sorrows of this precarious scene are closed, when the soul has entered upon a world of Infinity ? Can we doubt, that if it be, as we have seen it is, the parent of vice, of delusion, and of infidelity, it is also the parent of eternal ruin ?

In the present condition of man, it is, as a general rule, essential to his soul's felicity that he should hear, that he should understand, and receive the words of the Lord. They are in fact under ordinary circumstances as essential to the life of his soul, as the material bread and water are to the sustenance of his bodily frame. Had he lived in paradise, in a state of primeval innocence, under the smiles of an approving God, they would have been needful to comfort his soul; but now that he has lost the holy image of his Maker, and become enveloped in moral and spiritual darkness, they are needful for its salvation. And hence the solemn commission by a departing Saviour to His ministers, to "go into all the world, and preach the Gospel to every creature."

It is not my intention to assert that none can be saved who experience the spiritual destitution of which I am speaking. Far from it. There are many no doubt, who live removed from ordinances, scriptures, and ministers, who nevertheless belong to Christ, and live to His glory; and all who are thus unhappily situated are less responsible than ourselves. They will have less to answer for than we shall, if we despise the overtures of Christ, if amidst the light and blessings of His Gospel, "we receive his grace in vain." Yet we know who has said with solemn emphasis—"My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge."* We know that they who live "without God, and without Christ," and such is the general state of those who are removed from the ordinary means of grace, do also live without hope.† Their ignorance may palliate, but cannot excuse their guilt. They may be beaten with few stripes instead of many, still it is punishment, not approval, that awaits them. It is the awful sentence of rejection, and not the joyful summons to a kingdom of glory that they are to hear when the trumpet sounds. Unhappy men! To live for threescore years and ten amidst the pollutions and sorrows of a fallen world, and then pass to a scene where sorrow never ends, where hope never gleams!

Much has been said of late respecting the prospect of a famine in the British nation. No small anxiety has been evinced upon the subject, both in the mother country and in her colonies. Our rulers have deemed it necessary to make a national question of it, to call in the aid of science to ascertain the extent of the impending evil, and to devise means, as far as human agency can do so, to lessen the amount of it when it arrives. All this is right. It is just what christian rulers ought to do; for the calamity is no doubt a great one, and often the precursor of others, no less disastrous than itself. But while this evil, even in prospect appears so formidable, it is worthy of consideration whether we have not a far greater one already in existence among us, one which has a more powerful claim upon our christian sympathies, the identical evil of which the Prophet speaks—"a famine of hearing the word of the LORD." Surely it is a question which should be deeply interesting to our minds. Whether this evil—so great in itself—so awful in its results—is to be found among ourselves? Have we such a calamity resting upon our land? Does any thing that bears even a remote resemblance to the spiritual destitution referred to in the text, find a place in the country we inhabit? Is it a matter of fact, that in a Province professedly Christian, a Colony of the most enlightened nation upon earth, there is, even among persons claiming membership in the National Church of England, "a famine of hearing the word of the Lord?" Without any impeachment of the zeal or exertions of those whose office renders it imperative upon them to declare that word, we are constrained to confess that the case is so; and more than this, that it cannot be otherwise than it is, until, alive to the fact itself and impressed with a sense of the evil it involves, we rise to the emergency, and in the strength of united and christian energy, resolve that it shall be so no longer.

* Hosea iv. 6.

† Ephesians ii. 12.

Consider for a moment the facts of the case. We have a Province embracing an area of from twenty-six to thirty thousand square miles. And this extent of country is divided into twenty-seven Missions. This, if all the Missions were of equal extent, if the unequal distribution of the inhabitants did not necessarily limit some within, and extend others beyond the twenty-seventh part of the whole, would give to each Mission an area of one thousand square miles. But as the case stands it assigns to some of the Missions probably three times that extent of country. Now in England exclusively of Wales, the country embraces fifty-one thousand square miles, and this is divided into somewhat less than eleven thousand parishes, which gives an extent of less than five square miles to each. Thus the extent of our Missions compared with Parishes in the Mother Country is as one thousand to five, or as two hundred to one.

Again. The population of our Province according to the census of 1840, is rather more than one hundred and fifty-six thousand. Without at present entering into the question how many or how few of these may professedly belong to our communion, I would simply remark that to minister to the spiritual necessities of this population, we have about thirty-five Missionaries. Taking therefore the thirty-fifth part of this population, it would give each Missionary rather less than four thousand five hundred souls as his particular charge. Now in England and Wales the population is twelve millions, and the number of clergymen nearly sixteen thousand. This, if we proceed upon the same process as before, would give about seven hundred and fifty to each clergyman. The disproportion therefore is as four thousand five hundred to seven hundred and fifty, or about six to one.

Again—it is worthy of remark, that in such a country as England where Parishes are limited in extent, and every part of them perfectly accessible, it may be practicable for an active clergyman to minister to the spiritual wants of a thousand souls. But widely different are the circumstances of what is termed a Mission in this country, with various remote settlements, which, sometimes from the inclemency of the climate, and at all times from their geographical position and the unimproved state of the country, are scarcely accessible at all. It is impossible, in the nature of things, without further provision, that "the word of the Lord" and the means of grace, can be effectually extended to these Missions.

There are probably in every country Mission some of the outposts which a Missionary cannot bring within the range of stated services, which he cannot visit once a month, or once in three months, or perhaps at all. Such settlements could be pointed out in the County of St. John where for years the inhabitants, respectable both in number and in character, have been imploring that "the word of the Lord" might be spoken to them by an authorized clergyman, but without success. One of these I could name, where forty families, all originally belonging to our Church, reside; and another, where the inhabitants are more numerous, and about half of them belonging to the Church of England. But it is needless to refer to different Counties, Parishes, or Districts. The description is applicable to the whole Province, and there is not probably a clergyman present who could not add a list of proofs to the melancholy truth I am stating.

If from the state of the Country Missions, we pass to that of our Towns, few as yet in number, but steadily increasing, what do we find it to be? Are they effectually supplied with Churches, Schools, and Teachers? Is there not to be found in them a supernumerary population—some professedly churchmen, others professedly nothing at all, who are unaccommodated with sittings in our Churches? A very slight acquaintance with their condition must convince us that such is the case. It is indeed a fact as deplorable as it is incontrovertible that with our present provision for the spiritual wants of our population, the poor have little or nothing to do. They are virtually excluded from our places of worship. They have not even the privilege, which St. James deemed so small, of sitting down at the footstool of their wealthier neighbours.* Be the present accommodation for the rich what it may, and let it be as wide and as ample as you please, I would not see it contracted; we want, in each of our towns, a Free Chapel where the poor, whose souls are immortal and as precious as our own, may have the "word of the Lord" declared to them, "without money and without price."

A circumstance too which deserves especial attention is the fact that the spiritual destitution of which I am speaking is a rapidly increasing evil. It is a calamity which does increase and must increase, unless our efforts arrest its progress. It is a difficult thing under the most favourable auspices for christian instruction to keep pace with population. It is felt to be so, not merely at the circumference, but at the very centre of our nation's energies. In England there are Societies for supplying additional clergymen; in England there are Church-building Societies, and numbers of Sacred Edifices have been reared from time to time by the munificence of private individuals. Still in that country, generally, and more especially in its manufacturing districts, population has outstripped by a vast amount, the provision for church accommodation and instruction.

It is a well attested fact, and yet a fearful one to think upon, that in the very metropolis of England itself, there are half a million of souls who have absolutely no provision made for them in places of worship, whether within or beyond the Establishment. Now though the population of our Province is small at present, it is an increasing population; it is like every other population, which is not retarded by some extraordinary check, liable, not simply to increase, but to do so, with an increasing ratio; and in our case, not merely by what may be termed its natural growth, but also by the tide of emigration which is ever setting towards our shores. Look not then at our Province in its present aspect, but look at the prospect before us, and consider what its spiritual destitution must subsequently be, if a timely provision be not made to arrest its progress. If at this moment, we behold in our land a spiritual famine, in its incipient state, what will it be hereafter when the inhabitants are increased an hundred fold, when our forests have yielded to the efforts of the husbandman, and what is now a wilderness has become the abode of an active and enterprising population?

It is true then that spiritual destitution exists among us, and that its natural tendency is to increase with fearful rapidity. But if so, what is the remedy that can meet the emergency of the case, and how far are we responsible for applying it? The first of these inquiries is easily answered; for if the evil we deplore be "spiritual famine," the remedy is beyond a doubt "spiritual food." If the souls of our fellow-sinners are famishing for want of "the word of the LORD," what they require is to have that word supplied to them. In other terms they must have "the Gospel of Jesus Christ, the glorious Gospel of the blessed God," in all its freeness, in all its simplicity, in all its blessedness, its rich provisions, its gracious promises, its holy precepts declared, explained, and enforced upon them. This will meet the case of famishing sinners. Nothing else will. We may civilize men by other means, but we cannot make them religious—we cannot make them holy or happy, but by the power of Gospel truth. This is the remedy upon which heaven has stamped its seal, and no other is genuine or effectual. It is God's unadulterated truth, His divinely communicated truth, as we find it recorded in His written word, that affords the true specific, and of others we must say in the words of the patriarch Job, they are "all physicians of no value."

Now this it is that raises so high in the scale of importance the means and agencies employed for conveying this antidote to those who are destitute of it, for sending the Missionary to preach to them Christ crucified, for giving them the inspired scriptures, the standard of eternal truth, for planting Sunday Schools amongst them in which the principles of those Scriptures are inculcated, and providing them with the sacraments and other ordinances of Christ's religion, the emblems of holiness and pardon, the fresh springs of comfort and support provided by a gracious God, for their refreshment on their way to heaven.

But how are these several agencies to be put into effectual operation? How are they to be brought to bear upon the spiritual destitution around us? Only, it would seem, by a combined effort on the part of men who feel for the spiritual destitution of others, who know the value of christian privileges themselves, and under the impulse of that sacred feeling which the religion of Christ imparts, that holy sympathy with which His love inspires the heart of the believer, are willing to consecrate their means and energies to this paramount object. It is admitted on all hands that union when cordial and permanent adds strength to every cause; that even to a bad one, it gives an impetus which it is difficult to withstand. Far more then, in a good one, if men can only combine upon true principles with really christian motives, with openness and candour, with godly simplicity and sincerity, to advance the honour of Christ, may we hope that the effort will receive the sanction of heaven, and be crowned with success.

It is with these impressions, which I am sure are in accordance with the feelings of those around me, that I undertake the office of recommending to your support the Diocesan Church Society of this Province, a Society, the professed objects of which are identical with those I have just enumerated. These objects, if I rightly apprehend them, however diversified in character, are one in their ultimate aim; they are so many radii converging to a single point, and that point the diffusion throughout our land of the knowledge of the glory of God. And who is there present that does not wish and pray that this design may be fully and faithfully carried into effect? in other words that this Society may be the honoured instrument in the hands of God, of scattering widely the Gospel seed upon the uncultivated soil around us, of carrying the message of life to the poor man's dwelling in the forest as well as in the city, thus causing the "wilderness to sing for joy, the desert to blossom as the rose," the dark corners of our land to catch the blessed radiance of truth, and succeeding generations to walk in its light when we are gathered to our Fathers?

If there be one subject which more than others should attract the thoughts and awaken the interest of the believer's heart, it is the expansion of that circle which marks at present the boundaries of Christian truth; it is the gradual but sure progression of that heavenly light, whose every ray is the conductor of health and happiness to the soul. We read of wonderful changes which our planet is supposed to have undergone. Men of science tell us of successive revolutions on its surface, presenting adaptations to different classes of animated beings; each step in the progress, preparing it for a higher order than the former one. But whether these deductions are true or false, sustained or unsustained by the evidences appealed to, one thing is certain, that none of these revolutions, nor all of them put together, are comparable in importance to that moral renovation which is destined, under the influence of Christian truth, to overspread the habitations of men, that spiritual blessedness which will every where be felt, when "judgment shall dwell in the wilderness and righteousness remain in the fruitful field, and the work of righteousness shall be peace, and the effect of righteousness quietness and assurance forever."

And suffer me in closing my remarks, to say, that there is no man brought up within the range of Christian privileges, upon whom a very solemn responsibility does not rest to promote the progress of this moral and spiritual revolution, as far as his influence can extend. It is an obligation which attaches itself to us all, whether Clergymen or Laymen, affluent or indigent, in high or in humble station, for there is no man who has himself been taught of God, let his rank or means, or attainments be what they may, who cannot do something to spread around him "the knowledge of the unsearchable riches of Christ." Let us then combine with humble but sincere desire to advance an object which looks to the present amelioration and future blessedness of our fellow men. Let us deem it a privilege to unite together for the holy purpose of giving them a share in our Christian privileges. Let us feel it incumbent upon us so to employ the sacred deposit of Gospel truth, that the occupants of our rising Colony may become "a people fearing God and working righteousness;" that whether "the famine of bread or the thirst for water" shall visit us or not, there shall at least be an end to "the famine of hearing the word of the Lord." Then may we hope, that "in watering others, our own souls may be watered likewise;" and we shall have the holy satisfaction of feeling that in our narrow span of probation here, we are doing something to promote the arrival of that happy day, when "it shall not be necessary for a man to say to his neighbour, know the Lord, for all shall know Him, from the least to the greatest."*—AMEN.

REPORT.

In making the Report required of them, the Executive Committee of the Church Society submit an abstract of Returns from Local Committees.

WOODSTOCK.

The Rev. S. D. Lee Street writes on the 15th January, that he could not then state the amount of its contribution to the Society's Fund, but that it will be less than it was last year, principally on account of the general failure of the crops, but partly also on account of the large contributions to local Church objects which were last year called for. The people have recently bound themselves to make up £80 per annum for the Curate in addition to the £50 previously paid to the Rector. Moreover, by means of a Bazaar last summer £145 was obtained from that community for Church purposes. Still he hopes to forward a considerable sum. He will exert himself to the utmost in behalf of the Society, which has his most earnest prayers for its prosperity, and whose prospect he cannot but consider as most cheering. Viewing it as an Institution which must ultimately be the only medium through which the great and crying wants of a vast extent of country can be in any degree supplied, he trusts that all reflecting persons will be deeply impressed with the necessity of united exertions for its support and extension.

He transmitted the following Resolutions passed at the meeting of the Woodstock Local Committee. The contribution this year will amount to £50.

Resolved, That it is our duty as Churchmen and Christians to promote to the utmost of our power the charitable objects of the Church Society, because our blessed Saviour Himself before he left the world commanded that His Gospel should be preached throughout the world to every creature, and that every human being should be acquainted with what He had done and suffered for their salvation, and because numbers of our fellow creatures even in this favoured land are still destitute of the means of grace, and consequently almost ignorant even of His blessed name.

Resolved, That the thanks of this Committee are most justly due to the Society for their liberal grant of Books towards this Mission at the last Annual Meeting. And as the Lending Library of this place is increasing in utility and importance, this Committee would respectfully urge upon the Society the necessity of an additional grant towards this object, as well as for Prayer Books and Tracts for distribution.

Whereas it is highly desirable that Lending Libraries should be established at the Churches both in the Richmond and Jacksontown Settlements; therefore Resolved, That the Society be solicited to make special grants of Books for those places.

SAINT ANDREWS.

The Rev. Dr. Alley writes that the Prayer Books and Testaments, voted by the Executive Committee to this Parish, are placed in a Depository for sale and distribution; and that the other Books and Tracts have been distributed as prizes amongst the children of the Sunday School. He fears that their contribution will not exceed £22, as the Town continues to labor under difficulties, and the total loss of the potato crop has caused much distress. He prays God, in his mercy, to further with His blessing the measures of the Society; and transmits the following Resolutions of his Local Committee.

1. Resolved, That the arrival of the Lord Bishop of this Diocese amongst us, may be hailed as an event which will, under God's grace, both promote the utility and increase the efficiency of that branch of the reformed Catholic Church planted in this Province; and that the prayers of every Churchman should be offered up as well for the Bishops and Clergy of the Church in general, as for the people committed to their charge.

2. Resolved, That this Committee feeling the importance of all the measures of the Church Society hitherto adopted, as well as of those now in contemplation, pledge itself to the furtherance of all the objects of that Society, not only by the continuance of personal support, but by using every exertion to extend its influence and increase the number of its members.

3. Resolved, That the thanks of this Committee are justly due to the Venerable the Archdeacon for the assiduity and readiness with which he has labored in the cause of the Church Society of this Diocese.

4. Resolved, That the Honorable Thomas Wyer, and James W. Chandler, Esquire, be the Lay Delegates from this Parish, at the Annual Meeting to be held at Fredericton on the 7th and 9th days of February next.

5. Resolved, That the usual Supply of Books, be requested for this Parish.

CHATHAM.

The Rev. S. Bacon sends without remark the Resolutions of this Local Committee, and a list of contributions amounting to £20 2s. 8½d.

Resolved unanimously, That this Committee consider that the most essential benefits have already been derived from the Church Society originally formed and they trust now firmly established in this Province. Hitherto ably supported by the united efforts of the Clergy and Laity, under the auspices of the Venerable Bishop of Nova Scotia, they look forward to its increasing prosperity under the immediate superintendence of our present highly respected and indefatigable Diocesan; and it is moreover the opinion of this Committee that it will eventually become (with the Divine blessing) the most important Institution for the furtherance of the Colonial Church that has yet been established in British North America, and consequently deserving the warmest support of every individual who has the interest of the Church really at heart.

Resolved, That the thanks of this Meeting be communicated to the Church Society, for the liberal grant of Books made by them towards the formation of a Lending Library for the use of this Mission.

Resolved, That the Rev. the Rector be requested to apply at the next general Annual Meeting for Books suitable for a Lending Library.

GLENELG.

The Rev. James Hudson reports, that at the Annual Meeting of the Glenelg Local Committee he briefly addressed the people, explaining the charitable objects of the Church Society, and trying to impress upon them the necessity of more self-denial and self-sacrifice, the fruits of which, if given to the Society, would enable it to go on its way, through the Diocese, rejoicing. Resolutions were passed expressive of the fullest confidence in this, the first Colonial Church Society, and commending it to the largest bounty of the whole Church. Thanks were also returned for the excellent Books lately added to the Parochial Lending Library, the whole of which has been formed from former generous grants.

The offerings now sent from Glenelg and the Settlements on the S. W. Branch of the River (probably £12 or £13) will be somewhat larger than those of last year, but less, he is obliged to admit, than they ought to be. Aid is requested towards building a Parsonage House at Glenelg, and a small Church in the Parish of Ludlow, for which the people have promised the land, the frame, and boards. Mr. Hudson also requests the usual supply of Books and Tracts to the Visiting Missionary, for sale and distribution.

RICHIBUCTO.

The Rev. T. N. Dewolfe reports a collection of £10 1s. 2½d. in that Parish for the Society, and sends a list of the contributions. He did not call upon the people last year for any contributions, as they were then engaged in a costly undertaking, adding a Tower to their Church. For a similar reason he abstains this year from calling upon the Parish of Weldford, it being necessary to raise a considerable sum there for the completion of St. Paul's Church. He returns thanks for the Books granted last year, which he hopes will be productive of great benefit in his Mission.

KINGSTON.

The Rev. W. E. Scovil reports, that at the meeting of this Local Committee resolutions were passed expressive of their grateful sense of the substantial benefits which the Society has conferred on the Parish—by grants for Books, which have diffused much sound religious instruction—by aid to the Sunday School—and particularly by the assistance afforded to the New Church on the Long Reach, which was last Autumn solemnly dedicated to the worship of Almighty God. They do not limit their contributions to any particular object, knowing that it will be faithfully applied for the good of the Church and the cause of true religion. David Pickett and W. Pyewell, Esquires, are named as their Lay Deputies to the General Committee. Their contribution amounts to £14 18s. 3d.

NORTON.

The Rector of this Parish (Rev. W. Scovil) reports, in behalf of its Committee, that a Chapel of Ease has been erected in the lower part of the Parish capable of containing 200 persons, and in which the sittings are all free. The frame of the building was raised on the 1st of May, and on Sunday, November 2d, the Chapel was consecrated by the Lord Bishop of Fredericton, by the name of the Church of the Ascension. With the exception of £20 currency from the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, the whole expense of the erection has been provided by individual subscription, chiefly within the Parish. The contribution which otherwise they would have remitted to the Society, they have applied towards liquidating the debt of the Church; trusting that their motive for so doing will be approved by the Society, in whose work they take an undiminished interest—rejoicing in its continued success, and cordially assenting to the proposed alteration in its Constitution. They have appointed a Delegate to the General Committee.

SPRINGFIELD.

The Local Committee of this Parish thank the Society for last year's grant to their Parochial Library, to which they hope for further assistance. They have reason to believe that their contribution to the Society will be much increased from last year; but cannot yet state the precise amount. In the event of the proposed alteration in the Constitution of the Society being adopted, they trust there will be no diminution of the appropriations for Books.

HAMPTON.

The Rev. W. W. Walker reports, that he has not been so successful as he could wish in collecting for the Society, but he has done what he could. For the valuable Books from time to time added to the Lending Library of this Parish the Committee return thanks, and hope to share in the appropriations which the Society may make in future to the same useful object. The people being now engaged in the erection of an additional Church, the estimated expense of which will be about £400, solicit the aid of the Society to the work, to which their own contributions, though liberal, are insufficient. Their Lay Deputy to the General Committee is Dr. Earle.

CARLETON.

The Local Committee of this Parish recommend to the special consideration of the General Committee, in the appropriation of the Funds of the Society, the importation and circulation of as large a number of Books and Tracts as the Funds of the Society will admit, comprising both the Publications of the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, and such others not on the catalogue of that Society as the Bishop shall approve. They also return thanks for the grant of Books made to them last year by the Executive Committee, and express a hope that they may be permitted to share in the distribution of the present year.

Their Lay Deputies are Dr. Robb and Mr. C. G. Coster.

PORTLAND.

The Local Committee of this Parish have much pleasure in reporting that the sum of £85 has been collected for the benefit of the Diocesan Church Society during the past year. They also express their grateful acknowledgments for the liberal grants of Books made last year to their Parish. The Hon. Charles Simonds and Jacob Allen, Esquire, have been appointed their Lay Delegates to the General Committee.

SHEDIAC.

The Rev. Dr. Jarvis, Rector of this Parish, and Daniel Hanington, Esquire, the Lay Deputy of its Local Committee, have addressed a letter to the General Committee, in which they state they have been commissioned to solicit a large grant in aid of the erection of a Parish Church at the Village of the Bend in the Parish of Moncton. They describe that Village as increasing rapidly in population, and the Church Congregation as numbering about 100, most of them educated in other communions. They contemplate the erection of a building 60 feet long, not including the Chancel, and capable of accommodating 200 persons. A handsome subscription has been raised.

SACKVILLE.

In the name of the Local Committee of this Parish, the Rev. J. Black thanks the Society for the last year's liberal supply of Books and Tracts. The Books have been chiefly applied in forming a Lending Library. A portion of the Testaments, Prayer Books, and Tracts have been used in the Sunday School; and the rest of them either sold or distributed. The Committee solicit a further grant for the Lending Library. The amount of their contribution this year is £18.

DORCHESTER.

The Rev. John Black also reports the formation of a Local Committee in the Parish of Dorchester, of which the contribution amounts to £6 11s. 6d. They are desirous of Books, and have appointed the Hon. E. B. Chandler their Lay Deputy.

MAUGERVILLE AND BURTON.

The Rev. J. M. Stirling reports that he has formed a Local Committee of the Society in each of his Parishes of Maugerville and Burton, and has made in each of them a collection for the Society; that in Maugerville amounting to £17 6s. 2d.; that in Burton to £17 5s. 10d. The labour of collecting has fallen upon himself, and from the state of the weather and the roads he has had to traverse, it has not been light. He hopes that this offering from two Parishes in which upwards of two hundred pounds were actually raised last year for the Parsonage House, will entitle them to some consideration in the distribution of the Society's bounty.

The Local Committee of the Parish forward the following Resolutions :

Resolved, That the subscribers to the Church Society now present, together with such persons as may before the next General Meeting contribute to its funds, do constitute a Local Committee of the Church Society in this Parish.

Resolved, That this Committee regret that the late call upon the Parishioners for rebuilding the Parsonage, will prevent them from contributing as largely as they could desire to the furtherance of the laudable objects contemplated by the Church Society.

Resolved, That this Committee venture to take the present opportunity to express their satisfaction at the accession of the extensive and important Parish of St. John to the Society, conscious that such an accession must greatly increase the usefulness of the Institution, and add to the unity of the Church in this Province.

Resolved, That a Committee be now appointed to prepare and present a petition to the Church Society, soliciting aid towards furnishing the Parsonage House, and that Thomas Odber Miles, Esquire, and C. L. Hatheway, Esquire, do constitute the said Committee.

Resolved, That Thomas Odber Miles, Esquire, and C. L. Hatheway, Esquire, be appointed Lay Deputies from this Parish to represent its interests in the approaching Meeting of the General Committee at Fredericton, and that they be requested to solicit a grant of Books towards the formation of a Lending Library in this Parish.

The Rev. J. M. Stirling also transmits the following Resolutions from the Burton Committee.

Resolved, That the subscribers to the Church Society now present, together with such persons as may before the next General Meeting contribute to its funds, do constitute a Local Committee of the said Society in this Parish.

Resolved, That the small contribution made by this Committee to the General Fund arises not from any disinclination to join heartily with their fellow Churchmen in carrying out the excellent objects contemplated by the Society, but from many of them having already contributed to the best of their ability in assisting to rebuild the Parsonage House at Maugerville.

Resolved, That the destruction of the Parsonage in the neighbouring Parish leads them to express an earnest hope that the notice of motion made at the General Meeting last year by J. A. Street, Esquire, will not be forgotten this year, but that when the motion is brought forward it will receive the cordial assent of the Society; since they are assured that no measure, by the blessing of God, will tend more effectually to the rapid advancement of the true interests of the Church among us than the providing of comfortable residences for the Missionaries in the different sections of the Province.

Resolved, That in the opinion of this Committee, it would be most desirable that Lending Libraries should be established as soon as possible in every Mission, as they are convinced that much of the prejudice existing against the Church arises from ignorance of her history, constitution, and services.

Resolved, That a respectful application be made to the Executive Committee for a Lending Library for the Parish of Burton.

Resolved that Nathaniel Hubbard, Esquire, and Charles Clowes, Esquire, be the Lay Deputies to the General Committee at the next Meeting.

SAINT JOHN.

At the Annual Meeting of the Saint John Local Committee, held at the National School House on Thursday, 15th January, 1846, the Rector of the Parish in the Chair—the Secretary of the Local Committee submits a statement of the proceedings of the Committee, whereupon

Resolved, That the statement now read by the Secretary of the Committee be received, and a copy of it be transmitted to the Secretary of the Society for insertion in the general report, together with a copy of such resolutions as may be passed at the present meeting.

Resolved, That Robert F. Hazen and William Wright, Esquires, be appointed Lay Deputies, to assist the Rector of the Parish in representing this Committee at the next Anniversary Meeting of the Society, to be held at Fredericton in the month of February next.

Resolved, That the Treasurer of this Committee be directed to remit to the General Treasurer of the Society the sum of £355 11 3, being the amount collected in this Parish for the purposes of the Society.

Resolved, That it be a recommendation of the Saint John Local Committee to the General Society, to appoint a Depository in this City for the sale of Books imported by the General Society.

Resolved, That it be a recommendation of this Committee to the General Society, to make appropriations in aid of the Missions recently established in the Parishes of Saint Martins, Lancaster, and Simonds.

Resolved, That a Committee be appointed to ascertain the number of persons belonging to the Church of England in the several Parishes of this County; especially the out settlements, and to obtain such other information, in regard to their spiritual wants, as may aid this Committee in making its recommendations of appropriation to the General Committee; and that the following gentlemen comprise the said Committee: Dr. Botsford, G. D. Robinson, James Peters, Junior, and Robert Duncan Wilmot, Esquires.

Extract from the Minutes.

GEO. WHEELER, Sec'y to the St. John Local Com.

The Secretary of the Saint John Local Committee of the Church Society, begs to submit the following statement of the proceedings of the Committee from the time of its first formation up to the present period.

On 17th December last, pursuant to notice given in the Churches, and also published in the newspapers, a meeting of the subscribers to the Funds of the Church Society was held at the National School House, the Rector of the Parish in the Chair; when, on motion of the Chief Justice, it was resolved that a Local Committee of the Church Society be now formed for this Parish, in accordance with the Rules and Constitution of the Society.

Other resolutions were also passed, by which the Rector of the Parish was constituted the Chairman of the Local Committee, George Wheeler, Esquire, was appointed Secretary, and Sazrael J. Scovil, Esquire, Treasurer; and a Committee of ten Gentlemen, with power to add to their number, was named to solicit subscriptions in the Parish.

It was further resolved, that the Annual Meeting of the Local Committee should be held at the National School House, on Monday, 26th January instant, of which due notice was ordered to be given.

Shortly after the above Meeting was held, it was ascertained that, by a standing rule of the Society, no report of any Local Committee could be introduced into the General Annual Report of the Society, unless handed in to the Executive Committee by the 20th January; and it was therefore deemed expedient, that another meeting of the Committee should be called to consider the propriety of altering the time appointed for its Annual Meeting to an earlier day.

Accordingly on 31st December last the Committee assembled,

Subjoined is an alphabetical list of the Members of the Society resident in this Parish, with the amounts of their respective Donations and Subscriptions for the present year.

Respectfully submitted to the Local Committee.

GEO. WHEELER, Secretary.

15th January, 1846.

FREDERICTON.

At the Annual Meeting of this Local Committee the following Resolutions were passed.

1. That this Meeting has heard with the liveliest satisfaction of their fellow Churchmen in Saint John having united themselves in so cordial a manner to the Church Society, and of their having contributed so liberally to its designs; and desires to be considered as heartily concurring in each of the recommendations of that Local Committee to the General Meeting.

2. That this Committee recommends the Depository already opened at Fredericton to be continued, and supplied as liberally as possible with the Publications of the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, and also with such other works as the Bishop may approve, for sale.

3. That this Committee continues to regard the formation and increase of Parochial Lending Libraries as one of the most important operations of the Society; and trusts that the Clergy will still be enabled to supply the poorer members of their several congregations with Bibles, Prayer Books, and Tracts, on terms adapted to their means.

4. That the Hon. Mr. Justice Street, and B. Wolhaupter, Esquire, be the Lay Deputies of this Committee to the General Committee.

NEW MARYLAND.

The Executive Committee has received with much pleasure a communication from the Rev. W. Ketchum, stating that in the little Settlement of New Maryland in the Parish of Fredericton, the sum of £6 11s. 9d. has been raised for the Society, and giving a list of the contributors to the same. They doubt not but that the Society will gladly comply with their request by granting Books for the increase of the Lending Library, of which the foundation was laid last year, and which is very much used by the people of that Settlement—as well as with the request of Mr. Ketchum himself to be enabled to dispose among them a few cheap Bibles, Testaments, and Prayer Books.

KINGS CLEAR.

The Rev. E. J. W. Roberts announces a contribution to the Society of £16 11s 2d½. from this Parish, and states that it is designed to build a Church at the upper part of the Parish, capable of affording free seats to about 100 persons. A suitable site has been offered, and pecuniary subscriptions have been already obtained to the amount of £80, besides promises of gratuitous labour. The Local Committee request a grant in aid of this important object. Mr. Roberts unites with the Committee in their request the more earnestly because he conceives that there is a fair opening for, the Church in that quarter, which must be used now—or perhaps never; as other parties are endeavouring to establish themselves there. It is designed that the proposed Church shall be opened for Divine Service every Lord's Day.

mittee has resolved not to ask any aid from the Church Society to this object; but how ever commendable their reason for this determination, Mr. Roberts trusts the Society will not permit so heavy a burden to fall in all its weight upon so small a number of Churchmen.

The Committee at their Annual Meeting passed sundry resolutions, and named Charles Lee, and J. A. Maclauchlan, Esquires, their Lay Delegates.

SUSSEX.

The Rev. H. N. Arnold remits a collection amounting to £12 15s., wishing that it were more. The contributions are all for general purposes, the Committee having the fullest confidence that the Executive Committee wish to dispose of the funds entrusted to them to the best advantage, in their endeavours to promote the general interests of the Church. They desire to be remembered in the distribution of Books, as they wish to lay the foundation of a Lending Library in the Parish of Studholm.

GAGETOWN.

The Secretary of this Local Committee (Mr. Millidge) reports an increased list of subscribers for the present year, which this Committee unhesitatingly attribute to the Library Books received from this Society. The Parochial Lending Library is more and more appreciated; and they look forward to the time when all the Church members will have recourse to it for improvement both in Church principles and general information. The amount of their contribution is £18 7s. 6d.

SAINT STEPHENS.

At its Annual Meeting this Committee passed several Resolutions, the first expressive of gratitude to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, and readiness to assist in its benevolent work to the extent of their power; the second, of rejoicing at the arrival of a resident Bishop, from whose energetic, pious, and intelligent government they anticipate great advantages; the third, of their continued approbation of the Church Society; and desire to contribute to its support and extension. They request Tracts for distribution, and a few of the Society's Books, including Prayer Books, on sale or return.

They name R. Watson and J. H. Whitlock, Esquires, their Lay Delegates to the General Committee. Their contribution is £25 5s.

PRINCE WILLIAM AND DUMFRIES.

By the hand of the Rev. J. Disbrow this Committee remit the sum of £18 8s. 3½d. They acknowledge with gratitude the grant of Books made to these Parishes last year, which has proved extremely useful as well as acceptable. The Books having been very much used, they request a further grant—and have named as their Lay Delegates to the General Committee, Thomas Jones and W. Davidson, Esquires.

Referring to the foregoing abstract, the Executive Committee observe that aid to the building and enlarging of a Church is solicited by the Committees of Ludlow, Hampton, Shediac, (for one at the Bend,) and Kingsclear; and aid to the building of a Parsonage House by those of Glenelg, Maugerville, and Kingsclear: while nearly all the Committees request a grant of Books, particularly for the foundation or augmentation of Parochial Libraries.

E. J. W. ROBERTS, Sec'y. Executive Com.

Read the Accounts of W. J. Bedell, Esquire, the Treasurer, made up to the present time.

Read the Accounts of the sale and distribution of the Books, imported by the Society.

Resolved, on motion of the Hon. A. E. Botsford, that a Committee be appointed to audit the Accounts of the Treasurer, and report thereon to the General Meeting on Monday next; and that the Hon. A. E. Botsford, Hon. C. Simonds, R. F. Hazen, and B. Wolhaupter, Esquires, be the Committee.

Resolved, on motion of W. J. Bedell, Esquire, that the sum of £150 transferred by order of the last General Meeting from the Missionary Visits Fund to the General Fund by way of Loan, be retransferred to the Missionary Visits Fund.

The following Resolutions of Appropriation were then passed—the alterations proposed to be made in the Constitution having been first read.

Resolved, That so much as, with the addition of the Subscriptions limited to that object, will make up the sum of Three hundred pounds be added to the Missionary Visits Fund.

Resolved, That a sum not exceeding Four hundred and fifty pounds be placed at the disposal of the Executive Committee for "Missionary Visits to neglected places," the same to be taken from the Missionary Visits Fund ; or in the event of the proposed alterations in the Constitution being carried into effect, for " Missionary Visits to places where there is no settled Clergyman."

Resolved, That the sum of Five hundred pounds be placed at the disposal of the Executive Committee for the " Supply of Books and Tracts in strict conformity with the principles of the Established Church ;" Two hundred pounds value thereof for distribution, and the residue for sale ; and that it be an instruction to the Committee to comply, as near as may be, with the recommendations of the Local Committees.

Resolved, That the sum of Two hundred pounds be placed at the disposal of the Executive Committee for " Aid to the building and enlarging of Churches and Chapels," and that it be an instruction to the Committee to comply, as near as may be, with the recommendations of the Local Committees ; or in the event of the proposed alterations in the Constitution being carried into effect, for " Aid to the building and enlarging of Churches and Chapels and building of Parsonage houses."

Resolved, in the event of the proposed alterations in the Constitution being carried into effect, that the sum of One hundred pounds be placed at the disposal of the Executive Committee for the " Creation of a Fund towards the augmentation of the stipends of poor Clergymen—towards making provision for those who may be incapacitated by age or infirmity—and for the widows and orphans of the Clergy—and towards the education of the children of poor Clergymen."

Resolved, That the Lord Bishop be requested to make an application to the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge for the Church Society to be allowed to purchase Books at Members prices.

Ordered, That a commission of five per cent. be allowed to E. B. Peters, Esquire, on the Books sold by him.

Adjourned.
